LOCAL CLEAN WATER CAMPAIGNS

Do you have your own ideas for helping improve and protect our waters? Maybe you want to organize a river cleanup, host a tree planting event in your community, or gather neighbors to clean the storm drains on your street. Now you can use this platform to coordinate the activity, track participation, and share results.

WHITE RIVER CLEAN-UP DAY

Join the cities of Carmel, Fishers, and Noblesville for a paddle down the White River and pick up trash as you go.

WHITE RIVER PADDLE DAYS & FESTIVAL

Paddle alone or with a partner in this distance competition along the White River - all experience levels welcome. Join us all three days or just one.

RIVER ASSESSMENT FIELD TEAMS (RAFT)

The River Assessment Field Teams (RAFTs) are individuals, family members, or small groups of friends, colleagues, or neighbors who are willing to donate time to help strategically assess local water quality.

STORMWATER ACTION TEAMS (SWAT)

A SWAT is a StormWater Action Team. SWATs are groups of kids, colleagues, or neighbors that are willing to donate time to help steward storm drains and promote water quality awareness in neighborhoods or commercial centers.

Individual Action Programs

CLEAR CHOICES CLEAN WATER

We all make decisions every day that affect our water quality—and even the quantity—that’s in our streams, reservoirs, and wells.

Training & Learning Programs

INDIANA WATER SUMMIT

The Indiana Water Summit is an opportunity to increase our collective understanding of statewide water resources, learn from national experts and other communities, and find the best ways to protect our water assets.

SCIENCE & POLICY FORUMS

The Indiana Water Summit offers topical presentations between annual Indiana Water Summits. These short virtual discussions are offered to bring perspective to current water issues.

THE COLLECTIVE TAP

The Collective Tap is a podcast about water and the many ways we interact with this critical resource every day. Over 4 seasons we will work to answer the question, 'What, exactly, is the value of water?'

WHITE RIVER REPORT CARD

The White River Report Card is an assessment and communication tool to measure community progress, align partners and activities, and inspire change that improves our river and its watershed while preserving the community and economy.

TRAINED INDIVIDUAL CONTRACTOR CERTIFICATION

The Trained Individual Contractor Certification Program provides training and testing for those responsible for the management of Rule 5-permitted construction projects in Indiana, also known as a "Trained Individual".

STORMWATER LANDSCAPE MAINTENANCE TRAINING

This training provides information to Homeowners Associations, property managers, and landscape contractors about stormwater infrastructure within properties they maintain, how to understand maintenance requirements, and read operation & maintenance plans.

STATE OF THE WATERS

State of the Waters is a presentation sharing some fun facts (and not so fun facts) about regional water resources in our area.

REGIONAL STORMWATER MS4 PROGRAM

Stormwater is one of the leading pollution sources to local streams and is therefore a regulatory and quality-of-life priority for all local municipalities that are connected by our watershed.
